Update on our next phase of regulation

Take part in our new consultation and find out about the changes we're proposing

The health and social care landscape is changing. We want your views on how we can continue to develop a more targeted, responsive and collaborative approach to regulation.

We've now published the response to our December consultation on our next phase of regulation. Visit the website to read it and the related guidance documents we've produced.

We're also launching a second consultation today. It includes new proposals for how we'll regulate primary medical care services such as GPs and dentists and adult social care services like care homes and home-care services.
